Does fundraising make you feel like this?

Today's Goals

- Leave empowered and eager to build/update your development plan
- 2. Understand the fundamentals of a development plan
- 3. Leave with bite size or snackable nuggets of information that are immediately actionable for your organization
- 4. Be realistic with how much time you have

Case Statement

Case Statement

- > A document that states why your organization deserves philanthropic support and why one should make a contribution in support of the cause
- > Internal and external case statements
- > Many resources online
 - Do not start with your mission or start with the history of your organization
 - Get to the core of your statement by continually asking, "So what?"
 - Consider starting with a quote that goes to the essence of why your organization exists, or a relevant statistic

Case for Support

- Indicators tie to Development Plan (e.g. actual to goal, year over year, trends by constituent, etc.)
- Use of templates to increase efficiency
- Use of dashboards to communicate at-a-glance, visual depictions of measurable results (e.g. red, yellow, green color coding)
- Data-driven decisions and proactive adjustments

28 Days Later.

- Make goals reasonable to avoid becoming overwhelmed by tasks
- Calendar schedule time one month out, and throughout the year - be intentional!
- Accountability work with a team member, a board member, or someone to help keep you accountable
- Adjust if needed what will work for you to ensure this doesn't get put on the back burner
- KEEP THE PLAN VISIBLE!
